On weddings.

There is a particular quiet that happens just before a ceremony starts. The guests are seated. The room holds its breath. Whatever is playing in that moment becomes part of the memory, whether anyone notices it or not.

That is the part of this job I take seriously.

I have been trusted with weddings for over a decade. I still prepare for every one the same way: a proper conversation in advance, not just song requests, but the full shape of the evening. Who your guests are. What the venue feels like. The moments that matter most to you. The ones you haven't told anyone else about yet.

On the day, I arrive early, set up quietly, and stay out of the way until I'm needed. When the floor opens, I'm not there to play what I want to hear. I'm there to read the room and follow it somewhere good. That takes experience, but mostly it takes care.

If the music is something you're thinking about, I'd love to hear what you have in mind.

Warmly,

DJ WrexX

OPEN FORMAT • WEDDING & EVENT DJ

"We're so glad we booked DJ WrexX for our wedding. He just understood the vibe straight away and made the whole evening feel easy. The dance floor was full and the music just flowed. So many of our guests mentioned how good the DJ was."

A WEDDING COUPLE

"We had quite a mixed crowd, so we really needed someone who could read the room. DJ WrexX was brilliant. It never felt like a generic wedding playlist. It felt like our night."
